

The mystery of Jesus Christ's life in reflections of guests and staff of Radio Proglas

The thesis is written at the Department of Dogmatic and Fundamental Theology of Catholic Theological Faculty of Charles University in Prague under the lead of prof. Ctirad V. Pospíšil, Th.D.

The main source of author's research is the collection of 230 minutes of Radio Proglas programme called „Myšlenka na den“ (The Thought of the Day). This collection is analyzed from the point of the view of Christology and soteriology.

The second source is the theological literature, especially the prof. Ctirad V. Pospíšil's monography Jesus of Nazareth, Lord and Saviour, which is used as the theoretical base of the thesis. This theoretical base is illustrated by appropriate texts from the programme „Myšlenka na den“.

„Myšlenka na den“ is the everyday programme: a reflection, where its author contemplates and comments the events of the civic and liturgical year. It is a personal reflection of people of Christian faith.

The authors of „Myšlenka na den“, guests and staff of Radio Proglas, are in 90 per cents of Roman Catholic confession. Among them are bishops, priests, laypersons with basic or higher theological education. Radio Proglas has the ecumenical dimension. Therefore the programme is also prepared – in appropriate proportion – by Greek Catholics, Lutherans and Protestants. The collection of „Myšlenka na den“ is in this thesis used anonymously, it doesn't state the names, confession nor the author's position.

From the first diachronic analysis and the quantitative evaluation the author's gains the elemental overview which events from the life of Jesus Christ are more quoted by the authors of „Myšlenka na den“. Then the author search in concrete reflections the answers on the procedure of Christological analysis. It tracks the quantity of the use of Christological titles and the references to the Sacred Scriptures. It also records if the reflection is more of Christological, Trinitological, ecclesiological, sacramentological, eschatological or spiritual kind.

The author of the thesis is also interested how the main parts of the New Testament (John 1,14 and Flp 2,6-8) are represented, if the mystery of Christ's life are viewed more from the historical point of view or if they are approached as something mysteriously present in our times too. The other interest is how the soteriological meaning of Christ's cross and resurrection is described by authors of „Myšlenka na den“, how they perceive the salvation etc.

The thesis comes out of the author's media professional experience and it tries to interconnect the media outcomes with the knowledge acquired from her theological studies so the result would help to improve the preparation of new radio programmes.